DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cornelius (7,069,234).

Cornelius discloses a method and corresponding system for e-commerce trading comprising a user terminal connected to a network, a commodity selling office site connected to the network and comprising a commodity selling office server, and an electronic check managing site connected to the network and comprising an electronic check managing server and an account information database for accumulating information including account information of a user who uses the user terminal, wherein the user terminal, a device for having an access to the commodity selling office site via the network and obtaining the information including a charge of a commodity desired by the user, a device for transmitting check issuing demand9ng information to the electronic check managing server via the network to demand the electronic check managing server to issue the electronic check data corresponding to the obtained charge of the commodity, a commodity ordering device for transmitting the
